OVERVIEW

Code Four is a full-service agency in Huntington Beach, CA and Gold Coast, Australia with over a decade of experience in pretty much everything. The company is made up of five main divisions: agency, experiential, print, fabrication and technical – all aiming to deliver solution-based results for a variety of clients and brands.

WHAT DOES "CODE FOUR" MEAN?

When an officer indicates a "Code Four," they are letting fellow officers know that the situation is under control, and there is no further assistance required. Code Four does everything and anything for their clients, and sources all jobs in-house—from creative design to technical fabrication to installment. No further assistance required.

HISTORY

Founded in 2007, Code Four was brought to life in Huntington Beach, CA by CEO and local native, Kevin Elliott.

Code Four started out as a creative agency, then shifted to events and production, then installations and printing/fabrications, and ultimately ended up doing all of the above.
